

First Nations Health Authority
Health through wellness

The First Nations Health Authority is a diverse and transformational health organization of professional, innovative and dedicated team members and leaders.

The first of its kind in Canada, FNHA works as a health-and-wellness partner with BC First Nations to support self-determination and decision-making to improve health outcomes.

Employment Opportunity

Community Relations Analyst

Vancouver BC, Full-time

Are you an advocate and champion of change? Do you believe in a proactive holistic approach to health and wellness and the delivery of sustainable services that honour the customs and traditions of First Nations communities?

As the Community Relations Analyst, you will work in collaboration with FNHA Regional Teams and corporate groups to ensure alignment with the Health Benefits objectives. You will work extensively with First Nations communities to facilitate feedback and engagement, to identify issues and resolution to provide better Health Benefits and services.

You will develop trusted relationships and will collaborate with other analysts, assessors, and Community Engagement Coordinators (CECs) to communicate Health Benefits initiatives and engagement plans, as well as provide support to the Community Relations Manager and Regional Teams as required. Extensive travel throughout the province will be required.

Education & Experience

- A university degree or an acceptable combination of education, training and experience.
- Recent, relevant and significant experience in research, analysis, policy development and report preparation related to the Health or Social services sector.
- Experience working with First Nations leadership and communities
- Knowledge of health benefits as it relates to First Nations.
- Knowledge of BC First Nations communities, their health governance model and issues facing them relative to health and wellness.

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT FROM US

Joining our family means joining an organization that supports personal growth, in-house training, a paid volunteer day and a unique full-day orientation program.

Leading with culture, all FNHA employees complete San'yas Indigenous Cultural Safety Training. We support our family to be leaders in wellness and all staff members develop a yearly wellness plan as part of their performance partnership and goal-setting.

FNHA offers competitive salary, pension, extended health benefits and employee supports for mental wellness including an EAP and cultural supports.

JOIN OUR HISTORIC JOURNEY

At FNHA, you'll have the opportunity to contribute to BC's history. With a unique governing structure and mandate, our fluid work environment means you can play an active role in real change.

Our talented teams value respect and foster lateral kindness in their working relationships. Our holistic approach to wellness, based on First Nations teachings, is incorporated into all aspects of work culture. Where else will you get to create a personal wellness plan as part of your performance goals?

If you are looking for more than a job, come join the FNHA family.
